ImageCategorizer is a tool which gives you the possibility to classify your images into categories. The program creates classifications for both folder and single images. These classifications are formed automatically, based on the file's extension, color distribution, image size, image ratio and other properties. Each classification is named according to the criteria used to create it. In the collection menu, you can view the newly created classifications. ImageCategorizer Key Features:

- Create multiple classifications in the program and display them in the collection menu
- Quickly create, edit and remove classifications
- View descriptions of the created classifications
- Create as many classifications as you need
- The program creates classifications based on file extension, image size, color distribution, image ratio and number of pixels
- The program can work with JPEG, BMP, PNG, GIF and TIF images
- The program shows detailed information about the color distribution, image size and others
- The program can work with any Windows folder or file as a source
- The program shows detailed information about the source file in the description of the classification
- Support for Windows 95, 98, NT, 2000, ME, XP and Vista operating systems

ImageCategorizer is a very comprehensive picture comparison and categorization utility that can assist you in finding similar pictures based on many variables. The main difference from its competitors lies in the ability to classify the pictures using custom criteria; you can sort them based on any aspect of the images. After classifying the photos, the program can find the best matches and save them into a separate folder. In addition to this, you can also set up ImageCategorizer to receive images from a selected source and carry out image comparisons. ImageCategorizer has a lot to offer, and it manages to impress us not only with the amount of features it offers, but also through the ease of use and the speed. Key Features: The program offers an advanced picture comparison, selection and categorization engine, as well as the ability to sort, select and set up the desired input source. You can set it to find similar photos from any directory, according to various criteria. It's not a unique concept, but the ease of use makes it very attractive. Its GUI is not the best we've seen, but it looks clean and it doesn't require any expertise to work properly. ImageCategorizer supports multiple inputs and output destinations, making it one of the most comprehensive programs in this niche. Although it can perform many different tasks, it also carries out the process of finding similar pictures. You can choose to sort pictures by date, rating, size, type, file extension, file name and much more. As for categorization, it allows you to set it to locate pictures by color, file size, and file type, to name a few. ImageCategorizer is able to process a large number of pictures extremely fast. You can also set up it to receive pictures from a chosen source and carry out comparisons. Key Benefits: - Profiles are customizable for ease of use - Highly-effective input filtering, eliminating unwanted files - Thousands of unique pictures can be sorted by any given criteria - Multilingual support, to allow global users - Simplistic and uncomplicated, yet versatile user interface - Excellent results for pictures of any size, type, and quality - Variety of output destinations for your pictures - 1M+ unique images that can be sorted using an infinite number of criteria - A wide range of profiles, categorized for ease of use - Fast, simple and effective, yet extremely powerful picture comparison

About ghetto coder Since the dark times in the early 00's, when the ratio of Mac users to PC users was about 100 to 1, we at Ghetto Coder have developed a unique design that makes the PC much more attractive than any Apple product. This has been accomplished by developing all of our products in a Linux operating system. As the good Lord intended, Linux is a software-driven operating system, and we have harnessed that power in our products. As a result, the Ghetto Coder product line has become a leader in the field of utility software. We strive to do everything we can to make your life easier and as painless as possible. We're always on the lookout for new ideas and have seen all sorts of software, in all sorts of categories, and we're always open to new ideas. We guarantee that no matter which of our products you buy, you'll be satisfied. For more information, please visit: ghettocoder.com

The Ghetto Coder makes programming fun

Ghetto Coder 18.2.4

For many programmers the world is a symbolically controlled environment. Our Ghetto Coder allows you to see the world through the eyes of a programmer. You can examine it all. The Ghetto Coder allows you to see it all in a friendly window. With the Ghetto Coder you can see:

- * The big picture: The Ghetto Coder puts all the information you need to program on one screen. Clicking on an icon will show you the script that implements that command. Double-clicking on the icon will show you the code. From there you can edit the code, create a new script, run the script, examine the process, or look up what the specific command does.
- * The details: You can click on a command to see the function it does. You can then see the values it takes and the instructions. You can also see the data it uses and the instructions.
- * The program: You can watch a program run from start to finish.
- * A miniature world: You can step through the code of a script. You can even step back and examine the basic variables and their values.
- * The process: You can see all the processes in the program.
- * The details: You can see the function table, where you can click to go to any function in the code
